

I'm Sol, a communicational designer with 8+ years of experience delivering innovative design solutions across industries. Specializing in branding, digital media, product design, and UI/UX design, I have worked with many clients, startups and app development to create engaging, functional digital experiences. My designs are driven by a passion for combining creativity with user-centered functionality.

When I'm not designing, I enjoy finding inspiration in the little things around me. Outside of work, you can often find me playing the piano, reading comics and fantasy books, or traveling to discover new places and cultures.
